A joint resolution granting permission for the erection in Washington, D. C., of a monument in honor of Samuel Hahnemann.

In accordance with previous announce-ment Mr Tillman, South Carolina, delivered an address on the Philippine question. His discussion of the subject took a wide range. Referring to the speech of Mr. Beveridge in which the Indiana Senator charged that American opposition to the war in the Philippines was the chief factor in prolonging it, Mr. Tillman said: "If leans throughout the country-thousands of them belonging to the party which elected Mr. McKinley President-have felt it their duty to protest against the inuman and dishonorable conduct of our government, if they have believed that the stars and stripes were being disgraced and that the United States was waging a war of conquest upon a liberty-loving people, I ask that Senator in God's name would he have us remain silent? I repel with scorn the charge coming from any source whatever that I am not as loyal to the flag | Pennsylvania. as any man on this floor and if it is sought to locate the responsibility for the blood that has been spilled. I am ready in this presence to speak what I believe and declare the truth as I see it. I impugn no man's motives; but whether the President be most to blame or whether the crime rests on his dupes and subservient party dependents I say, with all the emphasis of my nature, that I and none of these who against the treaty are responsible for the spilling of one drop of this innocent blood that has been shed and I will not endure patiently and without resentment any such accusation.'

THE RACE QUESTION. Mr. Tillman then discussed at length the race question as it related to the Philippines, in the course of which he expressed strong dissent from the statement made recently by Senator Morgan that the civil war was precipitated by designing politicians who desired to thrust the negro with social and political equality upon the whites of the South.

Regarding the assertions that the Filipinos were not capable of self-government, he asked if men, ill armed and without artillery, who could not be subdued by 60,000 American troops in one year were not capable of self-government, how dared the Republican party give the control of the Southern States into the hands of negroes as being fit not only to govern themselves. but also to govern white men? If the Fillpinos are children, what were and are the slaves of the South? How dared Republicans appeal to the Northern masses to compel the South to grant the negroes a free vote and a fair count when it involved negro rule pure and simple? Were the fruits of the war mere sodom apples to be turned to ashes in such a brief span? Are the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to be nullified in their very essence because they falled of their purpose in the South? Are they for home use only? Did this Nation offer up of its best and bravest upon the altar of lib-erty, the blood of 700,000 men and spend and destroy five billions of treasure that we might have a 'government of the people, for the people and by the people' to find that in the brief span of one man's life the sacrifice was vain, the civil war a mistake, and that the colored race has no rights we are bound to respect at home

Mr. Tillman discussed at length the scheme of government proposed for the Philippines by Mr. Beveridge, saying in this connection that the Indiana senator's | terrupted Mr. Richardson. heart was as hard as flint and that he was without mercy and charity because he really proposed to govern the Filipinos with the bayonet. Such a policy would come back to curse us as surely as there is a God in heaven. Mr. Tillman said there was no doubt the United States could suppress and murder the Filipinos, but he protested against the continuance of this unholy war. "The President," he said, in conclusion, "has declared that upon Congress rests the responsibility. He shirks the burden of his mistake and crime, and endeavors to shift it to our shoulders. Let us give these people a government of their own, the only self-government in whatever form they may select, and be rid of the burden as well as the shame which must be ours if we do not. Let us protect them against outside interference and in a small part compensate them for the wrongs we have The Senate then passed twenty-three

Though there was a difference of eighteen degrees in the registrations of the thermometer between 7 o'clock yesterday morning and midnight, those who were on the streets at those hours could see no appre difference because of the biting down within one mark of zero, but gradually rose during the day to sixteen degrees at 7 p. m. WASHINGTON, Jan. 29 .- The bill for the reorganization and improvement of the Weather Bureau, which includes a provis- Residence Burned at Loogootee-Delaion for pensioning disabled and aged employes of the service, received a black eye in the House to-day. The bill was bitterly fought by the opponents of civil pension rolls on account of the life tenure provisions it contained and it was sidetracked on a test vote of 57 to 73. Although the speaker ruled that it remained unfinished business when the House was again in committee of whole, the opponents of the measure believe the action to-day kills it.

During the aebate on the Sulzer resolution Mr. Richardson, leader of the minority, said he was not opposed to the reference of the resolution to the ways and six weeks ago the trust has made a furmeans committee, but he was decidedly of opinion that an investigation should be made. He renewed his assertion made in a previous debate that the reason why the National City Bank of New York had not the independents to co-operate with it. completed its title to the custom house property purchased from the government was that it had been the intention of the secretary of the treasury to give the bank it made the independent manufacturers hospital when Mrs. Davis arrived. Ever since the present secretary had been in office, Mr. Sulzer said, he had been alding the National City Bank at the expense of other national banks. Mr. Hopkins, in reply, said that all this discussion was permature and out of place. "I simply rise," said he, "to protest against the unfounded, unwarranted and untrue charges made by the gentleman from Tennessee (Richardson.) What right has he to impute false and fraudulent motives to the secretary of the treasury? Is there any evidence upon which to base them? None whatever. When the secretary of the treasury was called on for the facts he presented a full response. "Why did the $50,000 remain unpaid?" in-

The secretary of the treasury sold the property to the highest bidder. Was there anything wrong in depositing the purchase money with the bank? That bank is a government depository, selected by a Democratic administration because of its financial standing, and a deposit in that bank was the same as if it had been in the subtreasury itself. Furthermore, if he had gone deeper into the investigation he would have ascertained that the city could not lose the taxes upon the property." He proceeded to explain the tax laws of New York relative to national banks. "Therefore," said he, in conclusion, "the disreputable charge that the secretary of the treasury did anything with fraudulent intent falls to the ground." [Applause on Republican side.] Mr. Richardson replied in a two-minute speech. Neither Mr. Hopkins nor Mr. Hill, he said, had made any answer to his ques-

This is the suit which presented the legality of the allowance made to the jurors in the Morris murder trial, whereby the jurors were allowed double time for twelve days, be they were kept closeted in the courthouse during each night of the trial. The law gives them $2 per day, and they were allowed $4, Judge Leffler deciding that in this case twelve hours should constitute a day's work. The defendant, Mr. Monroe. refused to pay the claims, when ordered not to do so by the County Commissioners. who were advised by their attorney, C. L. Medsker, that double time should not be allowed. Mr. Willard, one of the jurors. filed a petition for mandamus to compe the auditor to pay the bills, and Judge Leffler as a matter of propriety refused to hear the case and assigned it to Judge Marsh, of Winchester, who declined for the reason that he had an opinion and felt that the allowance was not right, and the case then went to Barnard.

We are not authorized to speak for him but have no doubt he will act a most honorable part in this respect. . . . NATIONAL LEAGUE WILL FIGHT THE NEW BALL ASSOCIATION.

Clubs Will Probably Be Put in All Cities Where Quinn and Followers Attempt to Play.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.-President N. E. Young received applications for protection and membership under the national agreement of the American Association from clubs located in Chicago and St. Louis in the West, and Philadelphia and Boston in the East and from two other clubs located in each section to be selected in the immediate future.

The clubs asking protection have no connection with the new baseball association. The American Association mentioned in the announcement is apparently a new designation for what has been popularly known as the National League. It is believed that there will be three teams in each of the cities named if the new baseball association carries out its project of establishing another baseball league, and that the old league will place teams now in the Eastern and the Western leagues in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and St. Louis to operate as rivals to the new associalast week, and the last one was filled in twenty-nine hours. This is the best well

The Post to-morrow will say: "The magnates of the National Baseball League have already formulated their plan of attack on the newly formed association. The scheme is to have a counter attraction in each city whenever the new association has a game scheduled. Of course the clubs named will immediately be admitted to membership in the National League. Second-rate teams will be organized from the spare material in the National League, and whenever the first team is playing away from home and the new association proceeds to take advantage of the open date for a game, they authorities. Everett, W. J. McCormick, H. S. Wolverton, Frank Quinn, James Ryan, Samuel Mertes, Daniel Green, S. M. Dungan, W. F. Clingman, J. A. McCarthy, Charles Dexter and F. B. Killen.

Philadelphia interests at present are looked after by Frank Richter, but it was stated by Mr. Richter to-night that some one other than himself who is interested in the club to be placed here will of-

Who this representative is has not yet come to light. The last to arrive was the Baltimore contingent, and as soon as they got here, which was late to-night, the new magnates retired to an upper room of the Hotel Hanover, where an informal conference was held. It was explained that many of the visitors were new to each other and that the conference was held for the purpose of becoming better acquainted. It is known, however, that plans for the meeting tomorrow were discussed and that some sort of a rough programme was mapped out. It is thought there will be considerable difficulty encountered when it comes to making up the circuit. It is known that the association has more than enough applications for admission to complete the organization. Louisville is a strong applicant and it is understood that a delegation from the Bluegrass State is now on the way to this city for the purpose of pushing Louisville's application. Washington and New York are also knocking for admission. There was a rumor around the hotel corridor to-night that William Barnie is the moving spirit that is pushing New York for membership in the new organization. Barnie is now connected with the Providence club, and whether the rumor is true When President Quinn was seen to-night regarding the dispatch from Washington which stated that president Young, of the National League, had received applications for protection and membership under the national agreement of the American Association from various clubs, he emphatic ally denied that any such applications had been made. Mr. Quinn said that such a thing would be ridiculous, as the new association is fully able to take care of itseif and does not intend to ask favors of the National League. The Washington dispatch was also brought to the attention of Colonel John I. Rogers, of the Philadelphia National League Club, and from the Colonel's remark it looks as if a war between the National League and the new association is about to begin. The Philauelphia magnate "Oh, that matter was talked over at Cleveland, where the circuit committee met last week. it is merely a war measure I have all along been in favor of putting teams in Chicago, Philadelphia and one or two other cities to play in the absence of tne National League teams. This is all there is to it. The Colonel's remarks are taken to mean tna. the National League is going to fight the new American Association from the start. Frank C. Richter, of this city, a moving spirit in the new organization, said that he did not doubt that the National League would antagonize the American Association. In view of President Quinn's emphatic denial that any of the clubs in his organization and asked for the National League protection there is much speculation as to who the people are who asked President Young for membership under the national agreement. It is believed the National League's plan is to place a team under the National League in all the cities in which the new American Association attempts to place a club, thus having three teams in a number of the cities. It is also believed mat the new clubs will play on the National League grounds when the regular National League team is away and conflict with the American Association home dates. The American Association representatives now in the city are thoroughly alive to the situation, and interesting developments are looked for.

NEW PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

Colesburg. "How the Boers disseminate false news has just been illustrated. Herr Pott, the Transvaal consul here, received the telegrams from Pretoria announcing capture of 2,000 British prisoners on the Tugela. These he officially communicated to the consular terviewed after the capture, said he was the surrender. He did not order the hoisting of the white flag, but having been exposed in a fierce fight for eight hours they thought that only twenty of them remained. Among the slain at the Tugela is Lieutenant Bruwitz, a German officer, who joined the Boers two months ago.

"After a week of uncertainty, British residents of the Transvaal have been informed that there is no desire to expel any except a few undesirables. President Kruger, however, has given significant warning that if the Boers are forced to starve the Britishers will share the same fate.'

VIEWS OF GERMAN EDITORS.

"Whom the Gods Would Destroy They First Make Mad."

BERLIN, Jan. 29 .- The latest news from South Africa is unfavorably commented on by the German papers. The National Zeitung says: "The British position around Ladysmith is now untenable. Either Lord Roberts must await reinforcements or re move his strategic center elsewhere, abandoning Ladysmith." The Lokal Anzeiger says: "The defeat at Spion kop is likely to become of decisive importance for the whole war."

The Kreuz Zeitung says: "It requires a good piece of British conceit still to believe in an approximately favorable issue of the war, but whom the gods would destroy they first make mad."

The Vossische Zeitung says: "The best prepared and most carefully planned Britsh operation during the war has now ended in complete flasco. What is there now to prop up the sinking prestige of 'world power?' To talk about another hundred thousand men is rubbish and the few battalions that can be raised will not change the issue of the campaign.'

Sir Edmund J. Monson Says Boers Are

Mere Rebels. ROME, Jan. 30 .- The Corriere Di Napoli publishes an alleged conversation of Sir Edmund J. Monson, British ambassador in Paris, who, after declaring that Anglo-French relations were excellent, said: "There is no truth in the rumor that British troops are to be replaced by Italian troops in Egypt. We lack neither men nor arms. Alone we will triumph over the Transvaal no matter what the cost. The Boers are rebels from whom England will have satisfaction. We are right and have the most cause and although we should be compelled to see Africa become the tomb of all our sons, we will only return victori-

FIRE LOSS OF $500,000.

Seven-Story Building, Used as a Chair

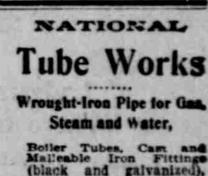

Factory, Destroyed. NEW YORK, Jan. 29.-The seven-story building in Cherry street occupied by the Heywood Brothers and Wakefield Manufacturing Company as a chair factory was destroyed by fire to-day during the prevalence of a fierce gale, which made the work of the firemen extremely difficult. When the fire broke out there were about 150 men at work in the building, but all escaped without injury. The bursting of a tank on the roof of the building, which precipitated 10,000 gallons of water on the fire raging beneath it, generated so much steam that the walls burst out. Part of the east wall fell upon the Gerrish warehouse and carried three firemen with it. For a time it was feared the men were lost, but they were extricated without having suffered serious injury. The loss on the build-

PROFITS $12,162,530. Steel and Wire Trust Declares Divi-

CHICAGO, Jan. 29 .- The directors of the American Steel and Wire Company to-day declared a dividend of 7 per cent. on the common stock, payable in four quarterly payments, April 2, July 2, Oct. 2, 1900, and Jan. 2, 190i. The statement issued shows that the company had made a net profit of $12,162,530 in 1899. President J. W. Gates, in commenting on the action of the board of directors in declaring a dividend on the common stock, stated to-day: "It has been determined by the board of directors to be the policy of the company to give the holders of the common stock the benefit of the earnings of the company concurrently with the preferred stock, payable, however, during the succeeding year, after the dividends of the preferred stock have been paid. The policy of this manner of payment is prompted by two conditions: First, we are advised by our general council that under the laws of New Jersey no dividend can be deciared or paid to the holders of common stock until preferred stockholders have had a full year's dividend. Second, it is fair and just that the holders of the preferred stock should have full benefit of their preferential securities by having the dividends paid one year in advance of the common stockholders. These conditions are accomplished by paying the preferred stock dividend quarterly during each of the current divdend years and paying common stockholders dividends of the earnings for the same year but during the subsequent year. The earnings of the company, as shown by statement thereof, are especially gratifying to the management, since they more than sustain the expectations of the directors, entertained early in the year. From the present outlook of the business it is safe to say that the earnings for the year 1900 will be still better than those of the past year, assuring to the stockholders or the company both preferred and common. every expectation of permanent div-

DEAD IN A BATHTUB.

Body of a Magnetic Healer Parboiled-His Brother Unconscious.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 29 .- Prof. A. Lefalamberi, a magnetic healer, was found dead in a bath tub to-day. His body had been parboiled to such a degree that the flesh fell from the bones when it was lifted out. On the bathroom floor lay his brother George unconscious. He has not yet recovered. The water was heated by a steam apparatus operated by gas. Lefalamberi is supposed to have fainted and the water continued to heat until it was near the boiling point. It is supposed that George was overcome with horror at the discovery of his brother's body and fell to the floor senseless. He is still unconscious to-night, and fears are entertained for his recovery,
